A reinsurance company insures insurance companies. Insurance companies buy reinsurance for two related reasons: as an alternative to capital and to reduce the volatility of their results. A single building, oil rig, or board of directors can be insured by multiple insurers each of which may in turn buy reinsurance from multiple reinsurers.

Reinsurance - introduction, explained, beginner's guide

(1) A provision under which an insured who carries less than the stipulated percentage of insurance to value, will receive a loss payment that is limited to the same ratio which the amount of insurance bears to the amount required; (2) a policy provision frequently found in medical insurance, by which the insured person and the insurer share the covered losses under a policy in a specified ratio, i.e., 80 percent by the insurer and 20 percent by the insured.
